A word from our CEO

Reflecting on the past year, I'm filled with gratitude and pride for our community. Together with clients, we evolved talent strategies to deliver meaningful outcomes. We continued to set the standard for driving businesses forward – and our commitment has never been stronger. At Cielo, we create new solutions, innovate, partner and redefine boundaries on what's possible, and 2024 was no exception.

While AI led the conversation, our loyalty to retaining human expertise and connection was visible in all we brought to the market. From AI to hiring trends and market insights, our experts equipped Cielo teams and clients with the knowledge and tools needed to manage the year. We've been more flexible, faster to respond and agile in this changing landscape. For example, our AI-powered software suite has allowed companies to access teams, platforms and knowledge in totally new ways. Expect to see more of this reinvention in the coming months as we're in the early rounds of its evolution.

I'm most proud of our investment in bringing our teams along with us on this journey, making the future exciting and accessible. We had over 150 individuals complete the AI Certification for HR & TA program. While learning is crucial for growth and talent retention (we logged nearly 30,000 learning hours throughout the year), it's exciting to have more people enthusiastically innovating and bringing new ways of working to Cielo through understanding. That's our future.

The year's uncertainty tested our resolve in many ways. But it only strengthened the drive to support inclusion and equitable opportunities coupled with responsible ways of working. We continued to be rewarded for that dedication through workplace awards in all of our main geographies. Keeping Cielo a place where everyone has the opportunity to thrive remains a priority and is also one of the reasons we were able to drive so much innovation in a challenging environment. We're in the business of people, and having the best people is core to our business.

As an employer and a TA partner, Cielo is the most recognized talent acquisition company in the world. If you're reading this, I hope you know the role you play in making that happen. Our people, our clients, our candidates, and all our stakeholders make us the company I'm proud to represent.

2025 marks Cielo's 20th anniversary, and we have ambitious goals! Before we move on, though, I'm grateful for this opportunity to recognize all we've done together in 2024. I'm confident we're entering the year stronger than ever to lead. Thank you.

With unwavering commitment to our shared success,

Powering success

Disruption brings opportunities. That’s why Cielo meets the market’s unpredictability head-on. We lean into change and innovation – for the intentional betterment of our clients, our candidates, and our shared success.

In 2024, we made strategic investments to position Cielo for sustainable growth across four pillars – achieving incredible results as the year progressed.

Lead with insight

Cielo’s work begins well before a solution is implemented. Our clients – some of the world’s sharpest thinkers – count on us to bring data and actionable insights that diagnose their talent challenges, lead scenario planning, and execute the best options. These insights help us forge strategic partnerships and illuminate the path to growth – whether that’s creating an end-to-end RPO program, implementing specific service or software point solutions, or equipping the client’s team with tools to succeed on their own.

We took our talent insights on the road by hosting a series of roundtables in North America, Europe and Asia. Using data from our partners, commissioned research, and Cielo’s own sources, we brought forward expert insights and facilitated cross-industry discussions among more than 200 TA and HR leaders. We’re committed to connecting our clients and prospects with their peers and the insights to help them overcome talent challenges.

Meet global clients where they are

As Cielo’s geographic footprint continues to expand and our clients entrust us with an ever-larger scope of business, we’re adopting a global governance model to guide our growth. In 2024, we brought our leadership team closer to our clients and the Cielo teams that support them. This proximity reinforces our commitment to ensuring that global clients’ local needs are reflected in the solutions we design and the products we deliver.

Drive our AI advantage

AI continues to disrupt the talent acquisition space – and companies need a talent partner who delivers clear-eyed advice and practical solutions. That’s exactly what Cielo’s doing. We leveraged our scale and expertise to lean into AI opportunities and deliver value for our clients. Here’s a snapshot of our market-leading accomplishments:

- Developed, launched and sold more than $1 million in standalone AI software
- Created robust AI standards to guide responsible implementation within Cielo and for our clients
- Designed and launched an industry-first AI Certification tailored to senior HR and TA leaders
- Integrated our AI solutions into our service delivery and core platforms

These investments created the framework for us to keep leveraging Cielo’s AI advantage in 2025 and beyond. We will continue to identify and test use cases that focus on the most valuable ways to deliver better talent experiences for all.

Guide our clients’ transformation

Clients are reconfiguring their talent strategies to win in the modern market, and Cielo supports them every step of the way. In addition to leading with insight and leveraging our AI advantage, we’re positioned to grow – and help our clients grow – by creating and executing a well-grounded strategy, and then hiring their workforce of the future.

Guiding light

Giving our clients an edge is core to our philosophy. At Cielo, market trends guide us on our journey to delivering our clients meaningful value. Understanding the landscape motivates us to evolve. It provides the foundations for the creativity needed to create better hiring experiences for all.

Market dynamics

Market evolutions¹ shape Cielo's business strategies and had a downstream impact on how HR and TA professionals operated globally in 2024:

Macro-environment
High inflation globally contributed to lower hiring rates in many industries – 41% of business leaders reported interest rates and inflation as threats. Record low turnover, partly due to a maturing workforce, led to fewer people changing jobs.

Geopolitical tensions
Half of the world's population voted in major elections. Two-thirds of CEOs were concerned about the impact of U.S. elections on their companies, and 68% cited U.S.-China relations as a factor in decision-making.

Focus on ESG
Governments, investors, customers and leaders put pressure on businesses to take a stand on climate change. Shifting views on implementation had many organizations revisiting and reworking existing strategies.

Tech innovation
Rapid tech advancements – especially in GenAI – dominated headlines and boardroom discussions. Two-thirds of business leaders cited GenAI as the greatest disruptive opportunity.

Early days of GenAI

Delivering value
GenAI began to deliver impact to people and enterprises. Some organizations were hesitant to adopt, while others moved beyond abstract talk and experimentation to start realizing the benefits, with a broad range of deployments and use cases emerging.

Growing regulation
Governments started passing various regulations around AI, with Biden's Executive Order, the EU AI Act, and other national and state laws coming into play. Organizations evaluated the implications, which slowed AI adoption in some cases.

The rise of agents
AI now displays growing reasoning capabilities, leading to a fresh class of "agentic" applications hitting the market. Many AI agents can carry out self-determined tasks to meet goals set by humans. In time, these agents will operate more and more independently.

HR impact
AI is impacting all areas of organizations, but many early results suggest that the most significant potential cost savings are available for HR departments. Cielo's leading the way to more accessible, responsible AI use in HR and talent acquisition.

Reskilling & new working models

The World Economic Forum² projects significant job creation and elimination between 2023 and 2027. We started to see this impact in 2024.

The line between full-time and contingent workers continued blurring. Organizations started viewing talent holistically. Employees evolved their expectations of work and companies. The gig economy grew, offering new opportunities for people and businesses.

This trend will accelerate in the future as new AI tools and workforces arise. To earn top talent in this environment, employers must focus on reskilling, skills-based hiring, and new working models.

Secrets to business success
When it comes to navigating change, many thriving businesses share similar strategies:

- Embracing the challenges of new business models
- Investing in the future of their workforces
- Creating agile, engaged cultures that reward success
- Making data-driven decisions to improve experiences
- Acting quickly and decisively in response to disruption
- Preparing for more disruption in the near future

Snapshots of success

Improvements to TA effectiveness

When Quest Diagnostics faced challenges filling business-critical, front-line roles in clinical labs in the U.S., the company turned to Cielo. Quest needed support in adapting hiring processes and freeing up hiring managers – which we quickly did.

Collaborating closely with business leaders, we implemented a streamlined approach for two high-priority departments; engaged our on-demand recruiting team to quickly drive down vacancies; added a dedicated University Relations function to recruit early talent; and added a scalable M&A team to assist with “just in time” recruitment for acquisitions.

Leveraging streamlined processes, we turned time-consuming recruitment tasks into better results, faster.

Quest’s hiring managers gained time to focus on engaging the well-qualified talent we brought forward, and productivity improved among new hires as a result. Overall, the improvements minimized disruption and boosted operational efficiency.

University of Maryland Medical System

Powering TA with integrated tech & authentic content

Like many multi-site health systems, UMMS had valuable data siloed across its member organizations – impeding talent attraction and retention and preventing well-informed workforce decisions. Partnering with Cielo proved to be a game-changer.

We collaborated on a comprehensive brand and recruitment marketing strategy, delivering authentic employee content that significantly boosted UMMS’s social media presence. This complemented the passive candidate attraction strategies and contributed to successfully sourcing healthcare talent in a challenging market.

For a more holistic workforce strategy, we integrated Cielo TalentCloud with UMMS’s existing HR systems to make data flow seamlessly across the organization. Our close partnership made this complex tech integration process possible. UMMS and Cielo leveraged a joint "command center" model to quickly stabilize operations during the transformation.

The combination of UMMS's robust data warehouse with Cielo's analytics enabled a "Best-in-Class HR Scorecard" that continues to inform the medical system’s daily and long-term workforce decisions.

Global strategy transformation via cloud-based platform

With 40,000 employees across three continents, Delaware North wanted to implement a new HR tech platform to streamline its talent acquisition strategy while supporting distinct regional needs. Cielo’s Consulting practice partnered to achieve that – seamlessly rolling out a cloud-based TA platform (iCIMS) across Delaware North’s U.S., U.K., and Australia operations.

Delaware North gained the necessary expertise in TA and transformative technology working alongside our consultants. Together, we conducted in-depth process discoveries to align the iCIMS configuration with country-specific sourcing needs. We supported system integration with existing tools and new customized features.

We helped Delaware North every step of the way. As one of iCIMS’ largest implementers globally, we implemented and configured the technology on its behalf. Our end-to-end project management allowed for timely deliverables, smooth collaboration, and stakeholder alignment. We also delivered tailored end-user training to drive excitement and adoption among hiring managers and recruiters.

Agile staff augmentation with scalable solutions

Amid industry disruption and dynamic staffing levels, Seagate needed a new TA partner to deliver agile, scalable workforce solutions that keep pace with changing business needs. The switch to Cielo quickly paid off.

Shortly after partnering with us, Seagate faced a reduction in its Manufacturing Specialist workforce and needed to reconfigure its hiring process. With Cielo’s support, Seagate navigated this challenge by redesigning its recruitment to be more nimble and scalable. To do this, we leaned into our AI expertise and implemented TA Optimizers™, particularly our Recruiter on Demand solution.

In 2024, our partnership grew from North America to include APAC to meet Seagate’s expanding global needs. We more than doubled Cielo’s original team in APAC to ensure the right levels of support as Seagate – and our partnership – continued to evolve.

“True partnerships are made during the challenging times. Cielo’s investment in making connections, fostering relationships, and collaborating with us has had a tremendous impact on our business.”

Michael Mercier, Head of TA, Seagate Technology

Giving companies an edge

Meeting evolving talent demands requires dialing into the digital landscape. In 2024, we expanded our technology offerings to help our clients stay ahead of the curve and improve hiring experiences for all.
